Buying embraced a wide list of issues but the motors, oils, food and coppers gave the best demonstration of gross strength. Extreme gains of two to 13 points with the ticker again falling half an hour or more behind the market were the features of the trading.

COLLEGE STARS SHINE SEPT. 29

Owl And Nightingale Club Will Give "Her Husband's Wife" As First Play.

The Owl and Nightingale club of Gettysburg college will raise the curtain on the year's dramatic program September 29 with the presentation of the A. E. Thomas' comedy, "Her Husband's Wife" in the Eddie Plank memorial gymnasium.

The production will open a season featured by several popular Broadway shows and one revival. The collegians aim to act as Gettysburg's stock company and produce plays which residents here would ordinarily not get a chance to see.

October's bill will feature "Clarence," the popular Booth Tarkington comedy. "Clarence" will be presented on the twenty-seventh.

"Broadway Jones," the George Cohen Piece, will be presented on Father's Day at the college, November 24.

Plans Ten Productions "Seventh Heaven," which, with its "very remarkable fellow" and romance of the World War brought acclaim to Austin Strong, and is still running on stage and screen all over the country, also may be brought here by the collegians, along with Oscar Wilde's "Lady Windermere's Fan."

A number of other successes and one-act plays are being considered by the director of the club, Dr. Richard A. Arms, to fill out a program of about ten productions this year.

Freshmen "try-outs" were scheduled for today. Not only will those experienced in trotting before amateur footlights be given a chance, but also those experienced in handling the backstage work of properties, lights, wardrobe, and scenery designing and building.

KIDNAPT BOY BEGS FOR AID

Abductors Who Demand $60,000 Ransom, Force Youngsters To Telephone Mother.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Ransom in the sum of $60,000 must be paid by Saturday to save William Ranieri, little school boy, kidnapped a week ago today.

The kidnappers' latest threat reached the father, Frank A. Ranieri, a contractor, today. It warned him that unless the money is paid on time the boy will be mutilated and an ear, finger or toe sent to the parents.

The father is unable to raise the money.

The authorities are unable to locate the lair of the kidnappers.

Mrs. Ranieri, the mother, is frantic. She was allowed to hear the voice of her little boy today. He talked to her over the telephone. The voice pleaded:

"Child Talks to Mother"

"Mamma, mamma, this is me. Please pay the money. I'm afraid, please pay them the money so I can come home."

For six days Ranieri negotiated with the kidnappers without informing the authorities of the true situation. He had merely told the police that his boy was missing, he tried to raise the money; he wanted to pay it and get his boy back.

"But I could not raise so much," the father said when he went to authorities with his story. "I could only raise $10,000. The kidnappers told me to pay that and they would not harm the boy until it was all paid."

Non-Stop Dash Across Continent is Declared "No Race;" All Contestants Down; Goebel Finishes

ART GOEBEL and HARRY TUCKER

Art Goebel, who recently winged his way from the Pacific to the Atlantic in record breaking time, reached Mines Field, Los Angeles, the only contestant to complete the long grind, but he was forced down at Prescott, Arizona, when his gasoline supply ran low and he faced strong headwinds. George Haldeman, the only other flier to approach Goebel's distance, was forced to land at Albuquerque, New Mexico. All other fliers in the air-classic dropped down along the route, one other reaching Wyoming and the others in the middle-west and east. One plane crashed in Indiana, seriously injuring two occupants.

COUNTY READY FOR ROLL CALL

Quota Of Memberships Has Been Raised From 1,500 To 1,800

Supplies for Adams county's participation in the twelfth annual American Red Cross roll call, which begins Armistice Day, November 11, and ends Thanksgiving Day, November 29, were received today by Miss Margaret McMillan, secretary of the Adams county chapter.

As soon as the supplies arrived Miss McMillan called a meeting of the executive committee of which Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lowary, president of the chapter, is chairman, for next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the secretary's office at the court house.

Adams county's quota of memberships has been set at 1,800, 300 more than last year, when the county exceeded its quota by two memberships. The total number of memberships for the roll call throughout the country this year has been increased from 4,000,000 to 5,000,000.

Included in the supplies are window cards, buttons, membership cards, literature and other paraphernalia for the conduct of the roll call. Included in the supplies were a number of certificates of appreciation which will be given to workers for their services during the roll call. The certificates are an innovation for this year's roll call. They are beautifully engraved and are signed by John Barton Payne, chairman of the central committee of the Red Cross.

3 ESCAPE IN AUTO ACCIDENT

New Machine Is Badly Damaged When It Sideswipes Concrete Culvert.

An automobile, driven only 780 miles and valued at $1,800, was damaged to the extent of $250 when the rear end sideswiped a concrete culvert at Bonneville, Thursday evening.

The accident would not have occurred if Charles R. Lee, driver of the machine, owned by E. M. Perry, both of Pittsburgh, had not mistaken Hanover street for the Lincoln highway at the intersection of York and Hanover streets here. Neither Lee nor Perry, nor a third occupant of the machine was injured.

Lee pulled to the extreme right side of the road to get away from an automobile with glaring headlights. The driver failed to see the culvert, and as the machine rounded the first sharp curve west of Bonneville, the rear end of the car collided with the culvert.

While most of the damage was confined to the rear end of the machine, the base of the engine also was damaged.

The car was towed to the H. and H. machine shop here for repairs.

JEWISH NEW YEAR STARTS TONIGHT

The year 5689, according to Hebrew calculation, will be ushered in with solemn services at sundown tonight. To the rabbins of old the Jewish New Year, called Rosh Hashana, marks the birthday of the earth, and upon its return each year the inhabitants regardless of denomination are summoned before the divine judgment seat "as sheep pass under the shepherd's staff."

The origin of the holy day is shrouded in the veil of antiquity. It is known, however, that the seventh month, Tishri, was accorded special solemnity, just as the seventh day, the Sabbath, was singled out for special observance. Rosh Hashana is the new moon of the seventh month.

From a strictly oriental festival, Rosh Hashana evolved into its present concept as the birth and judgment-day of the universe, when all men are summoned before the heavenly assizes and charged to render account of their past stewardship.

Gettysburgians, subscribing to the Jewish faith will observe the Holy Day.

TOT'S FEET ARE ALMOST CUT OFF

4-year Old Warren Hamilton Slips Into Ensilage Cutter; May Lose Both Feet.

Warren Hamilton, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Frey, who reside along the Abbotstown-East Berlin highway, is a patient in the Hanover General hospital, where a battle is being waged to save both his feet which were nearly cut off in an accident at his home shortly before noon Thursday.

According to information received by The Times the tot was playing about his home when he slipped unnoticed to the ensilage cutter which was in operation. In some manner his feet were caught by the cutter and both of them were nearly severed.

Dr. T. C. Miller, Abbotstown, was summoned to the home and he at once rushed him to the Hanover institution.

At the hospital it was stated that everything possible will be done to save the boys feet. They are nearly off and it is said that the bones have been cut.

BAD MAN WILL SURVIVE WOUNDS

Notorious Robber And Killer Will Live, Following Pistol Fight In Cleveland.

Cleveland, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Indications that Paul Jaworski, notorious robber and killer, would recover from wounds received yesterday in a fight with Cleveland police, came today from the hospital where he was confined and authorities set about at once obtaining an indictment charging him with first degree murder. An indictment for the killing of patrolman Wierzorek who fell yesterday under the bandit's fire, was expected today.

Meanwhile the condition of patrolman Effinger and Ben Majsterek, shot yesterday in the fight that ended in Jaworski's capture was reported serious. Majsterek, a bystander who was wounded by a stray bullet, was at first believed only slightly hurt but doctors said today that he had taken a turn for the worse and might die.

An indictment here would bar the return of Jaworski to Pennsylvania where he was awaiting sentence for murder when he escaped from the Allegheny county jail a little more than a year ago. Jaworski's record is a long one including half a dozen murders and many holdups.

Prospects Bright For Smith In West

New York, Sept. 14.—(AP)—E. A. Purdy, member of the Democratic national advisory committee from Minneapolis, said today that Governor Smith had "an even chance in the Dakotas, better than an even chance in Minnesota and was a sure winner in Wisconsin."

Purdy said he believed that the governor's presence in the north-west on his forthcoming campaign trip would "swing the tide."

The Young Men's Shop will be closed all day Saturday in observance of holiday.

Severe Storms And Strong Headwinds Defeat Air Birds In Long Flight.

Los Angeles, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Art Goebel, of Los Angeles, who was the first to land Thursday afternoon in the transcontinental non-stop air race from New York to Los Angeles, and was expected to be declared the winner, later was announced as having been automatically disqualified for making a forced landing at Prescott, Arizona.

Goebel, who won the Deke race from the Pacific Coast to Hawaii last year and only recently set a new record for coast-to-coast non-stop jumps in a flight from Los Angeles to New York, revealed that he landed at Prescott to adjust his carburetor and took on seventy-five gallons of gasoline. He was on the ground about an hour and ten minutes, he said.

He had completed the trip from New York in about 23 hours and 50 minutes.

Haldeman is Down

The last contestant to make a landing short of the goal was George Haldeman, of Detroit, who brought his Bellanca down at Albuquerque, N. M., at 5:05 p. m. Thursday. Haldeman said he was running short of gasoline and bucking bad head winds as he neared Flagstaff, Arizona. Fearing he might be forced to land on dangerous ground, he turned around and with the wind behind him returned to Albuquerque.

Haldeman said he flew through a bad storm near St. Louis Wednesday night.

Goebel, the only contestant to arrive at Mines Field, commented that Haldeman, although flying a slower craft, left Roosevelt Field three hours ahead of himself, and that the obvious reason for the Bellanca plane not arriving late Thursday was a forced landing. Goebel said probably lack of fuel ended the flight of the only known remaining contestant, explaining that he did not see how any plane could complete the nonstop grind against the winds and storms he had battled most of the night.

15,000 ATTEND THREE DAY FAIR

Largest Crowd In History Of Exposition Jams Grounds For 1928 Sessions.

More than 15,000 persons attended the South Mountain Fair which closed a three-day stand at Arendtsville Union park late Thursday night. The aggregate attendance was not only in excess of the total of the two previous fairs but was far in excess of the expectations of the directors.

The attendance on Thursday was estimated at 4,000 persons. The "big day" was Wednesday when all previous single day attendance records were shattered when 10,000 persons thronged the grounds. Only 1,500 persons attended the fair on the opening day.

Many of the exhibits were moved from the grounds late Thursday night, with the others going out today. "Gunpowder," the kicking mule, went to Lexington, Virginia, as soon as his act was concluded Thursday evening.

Officials of the fair were enthusiastic over the patronage given the fair by residents of Adams county, and promised to stage a bigger and more attractive fair next September.

The officials also were loud in their praise of those persons in Arendtsville, Biglerville and vicinity who gave their time and efforts toward making the fair the success it was. They particularly complimented the men and women who assisted at the cafeteria. "The cafeteria was conducted more efficiently and with less confusion this year than ever before," one director said. Every helper at the fair received a complimentary ticket, but no monetary compensation for their services.

The directors of the fair will hold a meeting next week, it was stated, when reports will be given and a financial statement made.

Says Hoover Will "Sweep" Penny

Washington, Sept. 14.—(AP)—A report that "Hoover will sweep Pennsylvania like a hurricane" was brought to Republican campaign headquarters today by Edward Martin, Pennsylvania's state chairman.

"What's the use of talking about it," he said in reference to Hoover's chance. "We are bending our efforts to elect a solid Republican congressional delegation."

Martin was accompanied by General W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad and national committeeman for the state, who also told national chairman Work that the Hoover-Curtis ticket was the overwhelming choice. The discussion with Work, Martin said, was over the general political situation.

"NO DEFENSE" IN BOARD QUIZ

Wilkes-Barre, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Five members of the Hanover township school board against whom ouster proceedings have been aired here for the last week went into court today and pleaded "no defense" after a series of contracts for school supplies had been under investigation before Judge McLeary.

The directors who comprised the majority of the board were appointed by the court about a year ago when the old board was ousted after a sensational expose of graft totaling $1,000,000. The former directors and the district architect are now in jail and a contractor has been paroled on a plea of poor health.

The present action was brought by the citizens of the township who alleged that the new directors were lax in the letting of contracts for repairs and the supplies were purchased in an alleged manner.

Court observers said their action today would result in their automatic ouster by the court.

P. PITTENTURF IS GIVEN 5 DAYS IN JAIL BY BURGESS

Unlicensed Guide Draws Ire Of Heiges When He Fails To Pay Fine Of $10.

Powers Pittenturf, of Gettysburg, who faces injunction proceedings instituted by the federal government's officers for acting as a battlefield guide without a license, was sentenced to serve five days in the Adams county jail by Burgess C. A. Heiges, Thursday afternoon, after Pittenturf failed to pay a fine of $10 imposed for soliciting as a battlefield guide without a license. He started serving his sentence Thursday afternoon.

Pittenturf was given until August 28 to pay the fine of $10 for violating the borough ordinance which requires all battlefield guides to take out local licenses before they may solicit on Gettysburg's streets. When he failed to appear before Burgess Heiges on August 28 to pay the fine, a week's extension was given.

Pittenturf failed to pay the fine at the end of the extended time, and Burgess Heiges instructed Officer George B. Aughinbaugh Thursday to take the alleged offender into custody. The officer took Pittenturf before the Burgess who sentenced him to five days in jail.

Burgess Heiges today said he had the names of half a dozen other unlicensed battlefield guides who have been soliciting tourists for trips over the national park without the borough permits. "We are watching these fellows, and if they persist, we will arrest them," the Burgess said.

Others Are Watched

The names of the half dozen other men, who are acting as guides without being licensed by Col. E. E. Davis, superintendent of the national park, are known to the park authorities, and if they appear on the field with tourists they make themselves liable to injunction proceedings, similar to those inaugurated against Pittenturf in the federal courts, Colonel Davis said.

A week ago Pittenturf was served with an order, restraining him from acting as an unlicensed battlefield guide and directing him to appear in federal court at Scranton September 26 to show why a permanent injunction should not be issued against him.

Rome Flight Is Under New Chief

Hartford, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Rumor persists that the command of the proposed flight to Rome of the Sequi-Plane Roma has changed hands, coincident with orders to have the ship groomed at the hangar here for a hop to Old Orchard, Maine, preparatory to a quick take-off over the Atlantic. The fact that for the first time since the ship was announced as ready for flight several months ago, the former co-pilot, Roger Q. Williams, on landing here with the entire crew, issued orders instead of Count Cesare Sabelli, who at the last formal announcement, was commander, indicates that Williams has supplanted Sabelli, the latter now apparently taking his place as co-pilot.

Governor Fisher Issues Proclamation Calling For Observance On September 17.

Harrisburg, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Governor Fisher today issued a proclamation calling for observance of Constitution Day, Monday, September 17.

His proclamation follows: "Monday, September 17, 1928, will be the one hundred and forty-first anniversary of the signing of the Federal Constitution. More and more the day is being observed as one of the greatest historic events in our national life. In truth there is no single incident surpassing in importance the birth of Constitutional Liberty, as embodied in this great instrument of government. Under it we have experienced an expansion of population, wealth and power unmatched anywhere in the world. The future security of our existence as a nation and our continued happiness and welfare as a people are bound up in the preservation of the fundamental law which has made us all that we are. In its perpetuity and in the sacred regard in which it is held by those in public office and private life are to be found the guarantees for the future of our country.

"Therefore, I, John S. Fisher, governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, call on all the citizens of our Commonwealth to commemorate Monday, September 17, 1928, as Constitution Day. "And as an appropriate time to refresh our memories of the text of the constitution of the United States, of its authors and their aspirations, of its preservation and development through the struggles and changes of the years, of its benign influence in preserving and extending the cause of free government, and of the duty of all citizens to revere it as the source and assurance of our national welfare and happiness.

TIMES FEATURE IS IN BOOK FORM

"Just Among Friends" is the title of the latest book by George Matthew Adams whose refreshing daily "Talks," printed on the editorial page, contain so much that is inspiring to the readers of The Gettysburg Times. As Mr. Adams explains at the start of his book, which is just off the press of William Morrow and Company, Inc., New York, the volume is made up of recent selections from the brief "Talks" that "have appeared each day for fifteen years in nearly 100 newspapers throughout America and Canada."

It would be too bad, indeed, if all the optimism and encouragement contained in these "heart-to-hearts" that Mr. Adams has addressed to his thousands of unseen friends, the newspaper readers, were not to be preserved in some concise form.

Hanover, spent the week-end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Orndorff.

LOVE-SICK CAR PILOTS, MENACE

Pennsylvania Motor Federation Head Urges Stiff Penalties For One-arm Drivers.

The intoxicated driver and the infatuated driver, while not in the same category, are among the most dangerous on the highways, according to S. Edward Gable, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation. The infatuated, though not so menacing as the intoxicated, is more difficult to curb, the Federation head says, because there is no law in Pennsylvania dealing directly with this offender.

"The infatuated driver and the 'one-arm' driver in most instances are one and the same," Mr. Gable said today. "The young man—and sometimes the not so young—who drives along with but one hand on the steering wheel and one eye on the roadway, most of his attention and thought being directed at the girl by his side, not only interferes with the steady flow of traffic, but fails to operate the car in as careful a manner as present-day road conditions demand. Yet it is difficult to regulate this type of driver, for seldom does he violate the letter of the law though most of the time he is offending against the common regulations of highway courtesy and safety."

"The intoxicated driver, criminally dangerous on streets and highways, can be dealt with summarily," Mr. Gable pointed out, "under the provisions of the motor code, but he all too frequently is not apprehended and all too often, when arrested, is dealt with too leniently." More prison sentences for this type of offender will do more to curb this practice and will go a long way towards making streets and highways safer, Mr. Gable believes.

 "GLORIOUS BETSY," starring Dolores Costello, is a Warner Bros. production of this novel. Based on the play by Rida Johnson Young.

SYNOPSIS

A miniature of Betsy Patterson is tossed into a card game at Sweet Springs Inn by Preston, who boasts she gave it to him. La Vert overhears the remark and challenges Preston, scolding him in the ensuing duel. With the miniature in her hand, La Vert wanders into the woods where he meets the lovely original of the picture wading in a stream. La Vert says nothing of the duel and allows Betsy to chide him for the unmanliness of his teaching profession. While he, in turn, mocks the worthlessness of her cavaliers, they are startled by distant voices calling, "Betsy."

"I shall see you at ten o'clock then—your French lesson."
 "Yes—yes, at ten!" She turned and scurried along the path as fast as her bare feet would allow, followed by the dog, barking and leaping about her skirts.

CHAPTER III

Before a massive mahogany sideboard, decorated with decanters and a gleaming array of bottles, stood a negro servant in livery. Into a tall, fat-bellied glass full of finely cracked ice at the bottom of which reposed some sugar, he carefully measured a generous portion of Bourbon rye from a cobwebbed bottle. He stirred the mixture meticulously, and brought the sugar seeping up through the ice. From a pile of fresh, green mint he selected several small sprigs, crushed them, and stirred them in the glass. At last a white coating of frost began to appear on the surface of the container. Once more the servant selected several long stalks of the mint and thrust them down into the drink, so that they raised their green heads over the rim of the glass.

"Eph! Eph, where's my julep? Don't you realize it's seven o'clock?" The loud voice came from the adjoining room of the Patterson suite in the Sweet Springs Inn, where William Patterson stood gazing at himself in a mirror, adjusting his stock. A short, heavy-set man with a florid face, bushy sideburns, and twinkling eyes that could blaze with anger. And blazing they were, now, for the stock was too tight, and had to be rearranged. And so he fussed, and fumed, and swore, this stocky man who, despite his great wealth and the possession of many merchant ships, and his social prominence in Baltimore, claimed fame chiefly because he was the father of "Glorious Betsy."

Mumbling an answer, the negro surveyed the work of his hands with approval, and then picked up the glass, set it on a tray, and started for the bedroom. But at that moment a knock came at the outer door and, tray in hand, Eph hurried to answer. He turned the heavy brass knob, threw open the door, and admitted Mistress Patterson's French tutor.

"Good morning, Eph," Monsieur La Vert greeted the negro. Then his eyes lighted on the julep. "Ah, thank you," he took the glass from the tray and began sipping the liquor.

"Mornin', sah," Eph returned, his eyes popping as they followed the movements of the tutor.

"Scuse me, sah, but da's Marse Patterson's julep."

"Mr. Patterson's?" Monsieur La Vert nodded. "It was indeed good." He replaced the empty glass on the tray and smiled at the astonished negro.

"Eph! Eph! Where the devil's that boy?" The voice came from the adjoining room, and in another moment Major Patterson was standing in his bedroom doorway glaring at the negro. "Where's my julep?" he demanded, his face red, his untied stock dangling from his hand.

"Scuse me, sah," the negro looked from the one man to the other, scarcely knowing what to say. "De Frenchman took it, sah," he finally explained apologetically.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

Here and There.—The annual reception to the new students at college was held in Gladfield Hall Friday evening. Speeches were made by President Granville, Coach Maute, Harry Beidelman, Professor Sanders, Professor Smith and Dr. Stahley. The college band furnished music.
On Wednesday the Chambersburg and Petersburg Turnpike company sold its property in Cash-town to George W. Schwartz for $525, the house at McKnightstown to John Lower for $850, the vacant lot in McKnightstown to Calvin Cluck for $187.50 and the house and lot near Gettysburg on the Chambersburg pike to L. J. Bucher for $700.

Teacher Elected.—The Gettysburg school board has elected Miss Anna Fox, of Shenandoah, teacher of Domestic Science in the high school and she is expected to commence her duties at once. Miss Fox is a graduate of Bloomsburg Normal and Temple university at Philadelphia. She has taught for eight years in country schools and comes here highly recommended. A room has been fitted up with all the necessary equipment for the teaching of this branch. Later a sewing class will likely be started in the school.

Football.—Cool nights mean that football days are here. For a week the local boys have been hard at work and next Saturday you will have opportunity to see the results and satisfy yourself of Gettysburg's chances on the football calendar. The team from Bloomsburg State Normal School comes to Nixon Field Saturday, September 20, at 1:30 o'clock. The team is coached by "Dutch" Weimer, former fullback for Gettysburg. Reports indicate that he has a fast team and will give the locals a hard run. Due to the increased cost of the game, the admission will be 50 cents.

Parents-Teachers' Association Meets.—The first meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association of the new school year was held at the high school building Friday evening with a full attendance present.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. William A. McClean, who gave an address of welcome and outlined various plans of work for the association for the coming year.
It was almost unanimously decided after some discussion to have music taught in the public schools of the town, the extra expense to be borne by the Parent-Teachers' association, and steps will be taken to hire a teacher for the remaining months of school.

Prof. W. A. Burgoon spoke of the new courses in school and stated that music is the only important course that is not taught. He has received the school board's permission to have the study taught and was highly in favor of having it introduced to the schools.
The first year's work in music is not to exceed a cost of $150 and will be taught in the lower grades, principally the first six. The additional cost to that in the treasury of the association at present, will be raised by a "tag day," or some other method.

Speeches were heard during the evening relative to increasing the membership of the organization. Miss Helen Cope and Miss Rachel Scott spoke on the importance of having the parents visit the schools so they can appreciate the work that is done there by teachers and scholars. Calvin Hamilton, president of the school board and William Arch McClean responded to calls for short speeches.

Before the meeting convened the Citizen's band gave a concert on the lawn in front of the school building.

The Eighth grade won the pennant for having the largest number of parents present.

Postoffice to be Finished.—Information reaches us that bids for the completion of the Federal building were opened in Washington on Wednesday, September 3rd. Darby and Pierce, contractors, of Washington, D. C., submitted the lowest bid price for the completion of the building, their figure being $30,196.40. When work closed on the building last spring owing to financial difficulties of the Ambrose B. Stannard company, it was stated by good authority that the building could be completed within six weeks. There are few towns the size of Gettysburg in the United States that have ever been presented with a Federal or other building to compare with the new postoffice under construction here. Gettysburg has been in need of improved postoffice facilities for years and at no time in the town's history was the fact so vividly impressed upon the people as during the recent anniversary.

Five months is allowed in which to complete the building and it will actually require about six weeks. If work could be completed in three months Gettysburg would have the use of its new post office before the holiday season.
The completion of Gettysburg's Federal building is a matter of the greatest public interest; it certainly is not and should not be a partisan issue. The populace clamored for a new postoffice building several years ago and the appropriation was forthcoming. The question of how some of the people demonstrated their appreciation of an effort to meet the public appeal is not for discussion here. Time alone is required to meet out the reward for ingratitude. Public sentiment is again clamoring for the completion of an unfinished work. Will this appeal be heard?

THE FOG HORN

There is a fog upon the lake,
And through the misty gray,
There comes the groan the fog horns make
To warn the ships away.

"Beware! beware!" the fog horn
moans,
"The rocks and shoals are near."
Across the waters fly the tones
For sailormen to hear.

Through fog the sailors cannot see
Where all the dangers lie,
And so the ear becomes to be
The servant of the eye.

Oh, would there were a horn to boom
When pleasure blinds the sight,
To warn us of impending doom
And guide us to the right!

Now, let me think a minute. The King of the Fairies was telling Little Jack Rabbit of a wicked orge that lived in a nearby wood. "He has cast a charm over the queen's son," went on the Fairy King. "Sad to say I possess no charm which will set him free, for the orge and I are enemies, and his charms are as strong as mine."

"I have a wonderful charm," cried the little rabbit, pointing to the magic gold feather in his cap. "Follow me," at once cried the King of the Fairies, and he hastened to a brook that flowed through the meadow.

"Come at once, friendly duck, From out yon watercress, I pray you take the bunny boy To help the Queen's distress."

chanted the King of the Fairies. Then next minute a beautiful duck paddled swiftly toward them.

"Climb on my back, little bunny," he quacked, and the moment the little rabbit was seated, he swam swiftly toward the moat that surrounded the Queen's castle. The night was dark, the moon half hidden by clouds and only here and there a star shone down, but the duck knew the way and after a little while he paused at the stone steps that led up to a narrow doorway at the rear of the castle.

"Take this key," will fit the lock," he whispered. "Then creep softly up the stairs; at the top is a landing and a door; it leads to the bedroom of the Queen's little son. Place on his lips this watercress, and then return to me."

Now the spell that the wicked orge had cast over the little son of the Queen was such that the poor child was unable to speak, but the duck, who knew the healing virtue of herbs, felt sure that the watercress would cure the little prince of his illness.

"I will wait in the shadow of the willow tree," whispered the duck, as the little rabbit softly turned the key in the lock. Then up the flight of stairs he hopped to the landing; right opposite, half ajar, swung a door. "It must lead to the little prince's room," thought the bunny boy, and he slipped in. Just then the moon came out from behind the clouds and shone right through the window on the sleeping child.

"Poor little prince," thought the kind hearted bunny boy, softly tipping over to the bed. Then, oh, so carefully, he laid a sprig of watercress on the prince's lips.

"Who kisses me?" thought the child in his dreams. Perhaps he might have awakened had not a tiny dream fairy fluttered in through the open window to sing a soft lullaby.

Without waiting longer, the little rabbit hopped back to the moat where the good duck was awaiting him. But, oh dear me! Just as he was climbing on the duck's back, that wicked orge, his eyes shining like balls of fire and his long hair standing up on end like cat tails in a swamp, peered over the top of the castle wall.

"Dear, dear," cried the duck, "there is our enemy. I hope he hasn't spied us." And in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

NEW PILE REMEDY STOPS ALL PAINS

Relieves Piles Without Aid
Of Operation Or Ointments

DISCOVERY MAKES
CHEMIST FORTUNE

In explaining how he came to discover the remarkable new internal remedy for various kinds of Piles and Hemorrhoids, which druggists are featuring and both doctors and patients are acclaiming here, the now famous chemist said:
"I figured if I could find a substance that was impervious to gastric juices I could make a harmless pill of various herbs, etc., that would pass right through the stomach and then dissolve into a healing, soothing, curative liquid when it reached the bowels—thereby arriving at the seat of all the trouble in full strength—quickly stop all pain, burning and itching—and aid nature to completely eliminate the cause and bring permanent lasting relief. How I finally succeeded is best told by the thousands of tests, proving beyond a shadow of doubt that at last no matter how long or severely one has suffered they can forget ugly operations except in rare instances and without nasty salves or suppositories enjoy the benefits of this simple, harmless, scientific method."

Even delicate old men and women troubled with piles, sit, walk and sleep in comfort free of pain in a few hours in many cases and report complete relief in a few days. Several local druggists agree to refund the 75 cents a regular bottle costs if they fail to relieve completely, even the worst or chronic case. Certainly no one should neglect themselves another day. If your own druggist hasn't Colic Pile Pills, send 75c to Colic Chemical Co., Brentwood, Md., with name and address for full size bottle, 40 pills, plain wrapper, full directions, return mail—adv.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ON BEING A PERSON

So often I feel that our lives are being made too mechanical and wound too tightly about names, instances, and gain.

The person that we are is little interested in any of these. A person has identity. Instinctively, a person is a free creation, bound naturally to its own individual gifts of birth.

How unthinking we are when we hurt others. Do we realize that we are thrusting a dart into the heart of a person? A person is real, vital, a world in itself—an agent, pushed into an unthinking world, without credentials or mission beyond its own God given, secret one, sealed at its conception of life.

At times this marvelous revelation comes to some of us when we meet a human being and say so impulsively: "What a person!" Yet how difficult it is to be a real person. Just at the time when we feel like it most we feel ourselves hedged about, conventionalized, and our own humanizing urge shrinks and draws backward. It is inexplicable and almost tragic.

Why shouldn't we be a person? Why shouldn't we be allowed to grow into our heritage as naturally as a flower or a tree?

Isn't it a sacred gift bequeathed from the breath of the Creator Himself?

Only through intelligent understanding we are able to appreciate this person of ours and, through this understanding, bequeath much that is precious and rich to those about us upon whom we may lavish bits of this personality.

What a fine and sincere purpose to desire daily to become as rounded and as fully equipped a person as is humanly possible!

BOBBED HAired WOMEN NEEDN'T HAVE GRAY HAIR

Nature Will Keep Hair Youthful Shade Free Of Gray.

LIFELESS GRAY HAIR REGAINS OLD BEAUTY

Everybody knows if color glands and hair roots are healthy and active, the hair will continue indefinitely a rich, natural color entirely free of gray or streaked locks.

A doctor several years ago asked himself this question: If I can stimulate digestion, liver, heart, etc., with a tonic, why not rub a stimulating tonic into the scalp that will revive those inactive glands so nature in her own natural way will resume putting plenty of pigment into the hair tubes—surely the hair will then resume its original beautiful shades of youth regardless of user's age or previous condition of their hair.

Remarkable Discovery

The doctor's search led to endless experiments. He didn't want a dye or tint, and it, of course, must be harmless even if a person used it many years. Under the name, Lea's Hair Tonic any one may now purchase the tonic he finally perfected. For several years hairdressers, scattered over the country have been using it. Results are so nice and gradual men used it too. It doesn't stain the scalp, and as a test one need only apply it to some small spot a few days to watch results. Shampoo as often as desired.

Most people are first induced to try Lea's for gray hair but it primarily was intended as a tonic to put the scalp, hair roots, pigment glands and hair in a healthy, vigorous condition. Of course with a healthy scalp comes a change in appearance of hair and a restoration of the natural shade of brown, red, black, auburn, or blonde. There are some three thousand shades of color in human hair—no dye expert can paint one's hair as exquisitely as nature. Lea's merely stimulates nature to renewed activity, puts nature back on the job, you might say, and the tint she imparts to your hair, once the scalp, roots and glands become healthy, is natural. What is more beautiful or becoming than nature's own choice of shade to match your eyes, complexion and beauty? If a reader desires to try Lea's Hair Tonic on guarantee of complete satisfaction they should get a bottle at drug store or pin dollar bill to this advertisement and send to Lea's Tonic Co., Brentwood, Md., for generous size bottle, full directions. * Experts cannot detect the use of Lea's Hair Tonic, adv.
